THE BOULANGISTS BEATEN

RESULT OF THE FRENCH VOTING.
The Government Secures a Great Victory Over the Combined Forces of the Opposition.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Notwithstanding the fact that the electoral college was proceeding yesterday, the streets of Paris presented a deserted aspect. Rain closed the boulevards and kept the people within doors. Country voters to the Exposition left the city for their respective departments to participate in the elections, leaving the different sections of the exhibition less crowded than usual. Great crowds thronged the streets for the last two days obtaining voting papers. The voting began at 8 a. m. Around the electoral places representatives of the different parties kept up a noisy and excited conversation.

There was an excitement of a different kind after 5 o'clock the polling places were thronged with voters. The excitement was not of the kind that prevailed in the elections of 1876. The voters were good humored and there was no apparent disposition to quarrel. The authorities had every precaution taken to insure the free exercise of the franchise. The soldiers were kept in readiness in the barracks and the police were ordered to remain in their posts and not to interfere with the voters. The clergy of the different churches were also present to assist the voters.

There was a riot at Avignon. A crowd of about 500 persons gathered in the streets and threw stones at the police. The police were ordered to fire and the riot was dispersed. The authorities are now taking every precaution to prevent a recurrence of such a riot.

The result of the voting is as follows: The Government has secured a great victory over the combined forces of the opposition. The Government has secured 5,000,000 votes, while the opposition has secured only 4,000,000 votes.

The result of the voting is as follows: The Government has secured a great victory over the combined forces of the opposition. The Government has secured 5,000,000 votes, while the opposition has secured only 4,000,000 votes.
